KLAMATH NATIONAL FOREST

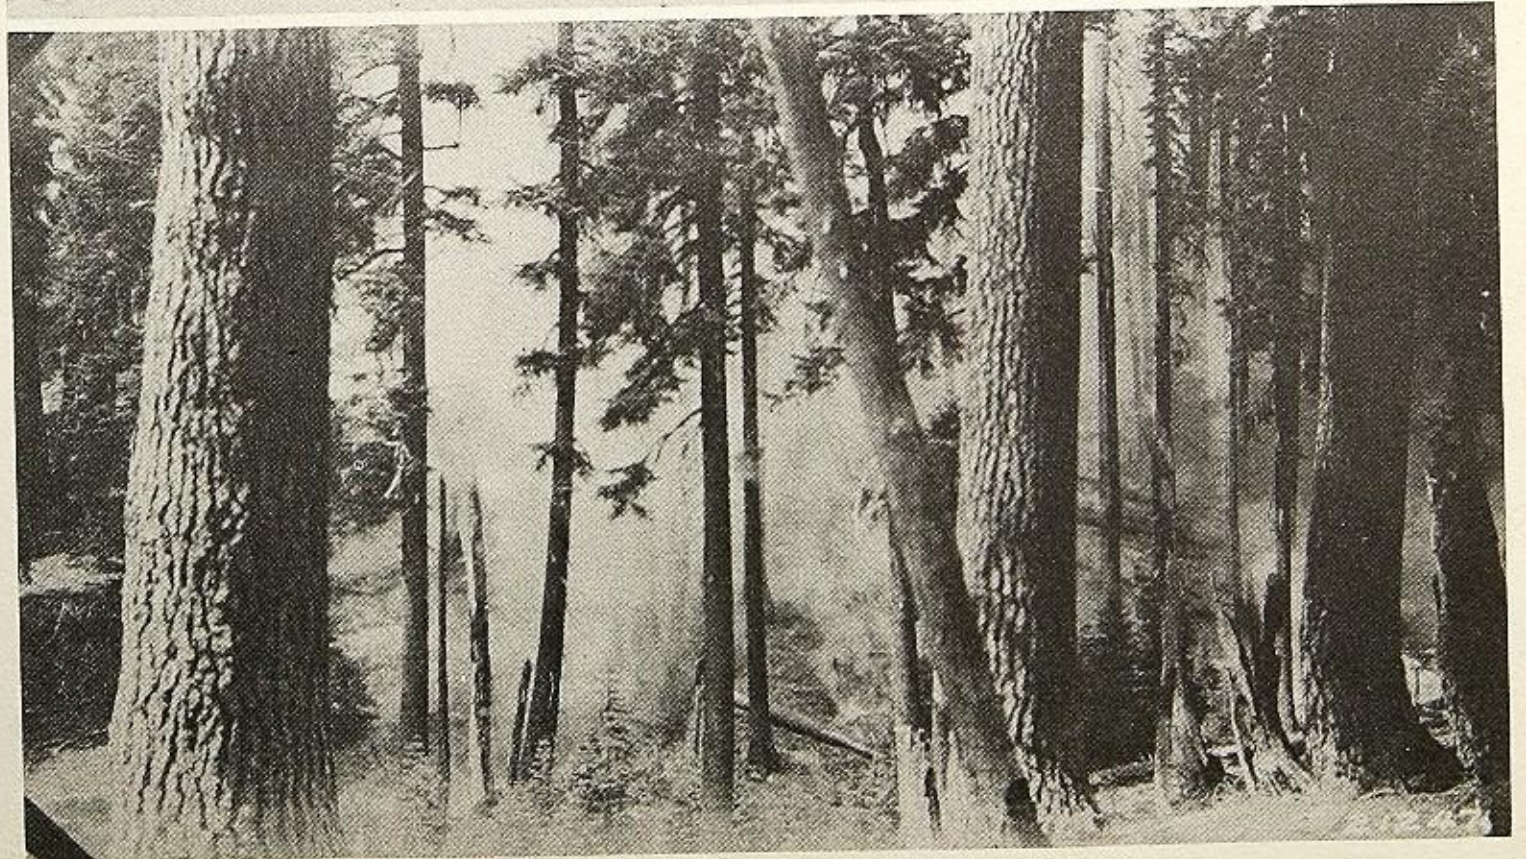

This is the forest primeval. The murmuring pines and the hemlocks
Bearded with moss, and in garments green, indistinct in the twilight,
Stand like harpers hoar, with beards that rest on their bosoms.
Loud from its rocky caverns, the deep-voiced neighboring ocean
Speaks, and in accents disconsolate answers the wail of the forest.

This picture was taken on Broadway Street in Yreka, the exact date unknown. These wagons appear to be empties waiting to turn in to the freight station of the Yreka Western Railroad which stood near the junction of Main and Broadway. Their loads will be destined for Scott Valley towns or points down the Klamath River.

On the opposite page are two scenes in Scott

Valley which probably date back to 1914. One is the old steam threshing machine which was common at that time and the other is one of the original "horseless carriages".

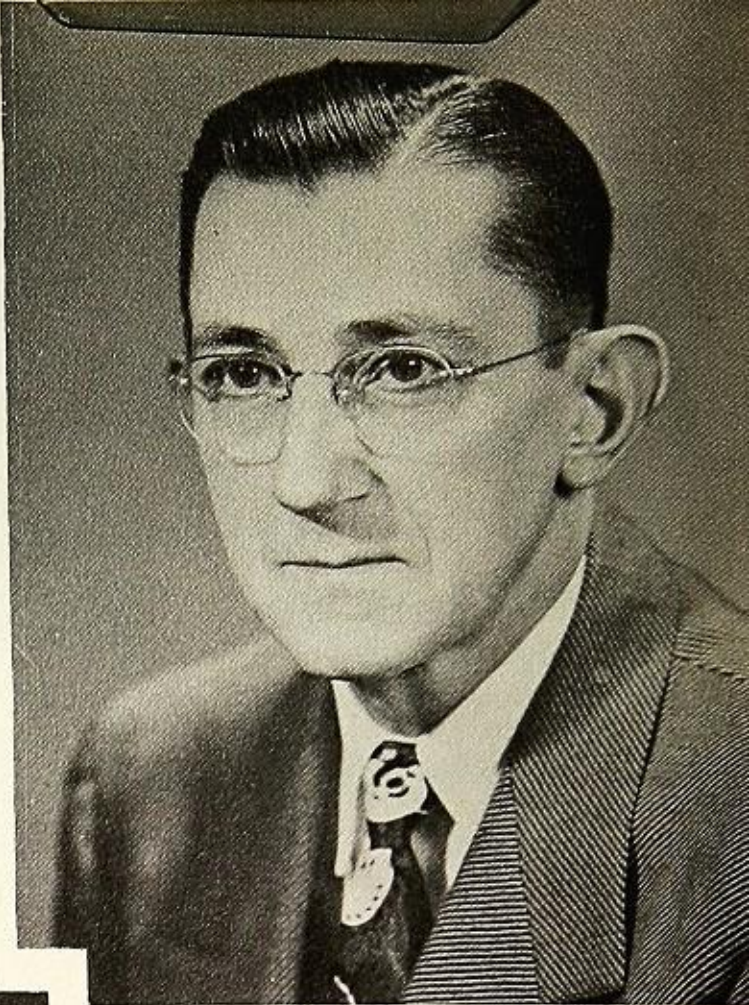

Many such pictures are on file at the Siskiyou County Museum at Yreka and the Fort Jones Museum. Everyone is invited to come in to see them.

In September '52 we stumbled into Yreka High School as a wide-eyed, open-mouthed group of freshmen. After the confusion of the first couple of weeks, we chose as our leader, Steve Wagner, class president for the year. With the help of our patient advisor, Mrs. Loudon, we made a big success of our "Spring Dance."

Gaining confidence in ourselves and guided by our efficient advisor, Mr. Home, we began our sophomore year, led by our new class president, Dick Crawford. Besides handling many concessions, we held the annual Sweetheart Swirl in February.

As upperclassmen, we handled our responsibilities with ease under the supervision of our advisor, Mr. Pueyo, and class president, Jerry Churchill. We sponsored a very successful Junior Prom, using the theme of "Apple Blossom Time." During the Basketball Jamboree in December, Donna Desoza represented the Junior Class by being voted the Queen. We held several class parties and picnics to bring the class closer together. In March, we presented as our play, "Our Miss Brooks," which was a big success.

After three years of experience, we were able to step gracefully to the top, trying to set a good example for the classes to follow. We held the annual Senior Ball. The theme was "One Night To Dream." For the second year our class candidate, this year Martha Payne, won the honor of reigning as Queen. In the spring we held our play "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." To complete our four busy years we had the traditional Senior Banquet, our last class gathering. Our advisor for our last year was Mr. Loudon and our class president was Bob Klander.

We trembled as we walked down the halls of Y.H.S. that first day but managed to choose a dependable class president, Duane Culp. Under the guidance of our advisor, Mrs. Loudon, we handled very efficiently all our responsibilities, including concessions at games and dances.

As sophomores, we presented the traditional 'Sweetheart Swirl' in February. Acting as class president was Lewis Karstensson. Our advisor was Mr. Birmingham.

This year, our class has had a very successful year. Our advisor for the second time was Mr. Birmingham and class president was Eddie Harris. In the fall we presented our class play, 'Suddenly It Was May.' The annual Junior Prom was held in May.

Sophomore Class

As an inexperienced group of Freshmen, our class of '58 has done very well on the activities and duties of high school. We were led by our class president, Steve Cameron, who was assisted by advisor, Mrs. Loudon. We held a "Sox Hop," the first one to be given at Yreka High in several years.

With Mrs. Julia Green as our advisor and Bernard Sleep, president, we held the annual Sweetheart Swirl on February 11, honoring Valentine's Day. During the year, we also handled concessions.

With almost 65 members in the Band this year, directed once again by Warren "Pop." Behnke, it retained its fine name in the county.

Beginning the year with hours of practicing, they were able to add much to our school spirit by giving their peppy performances between halves at the football games.

For the purpose of raising money for new uniforms, the band has presented several concerts. They are hoping to purchase the new uniforms very soon.

As in the past, they have attended festivals and clinics to represent themselves and our Yreka High School.

The bright lights on the green gridiron have once again grown dim. And yet this dimness does not erase the memories of the season's football games.

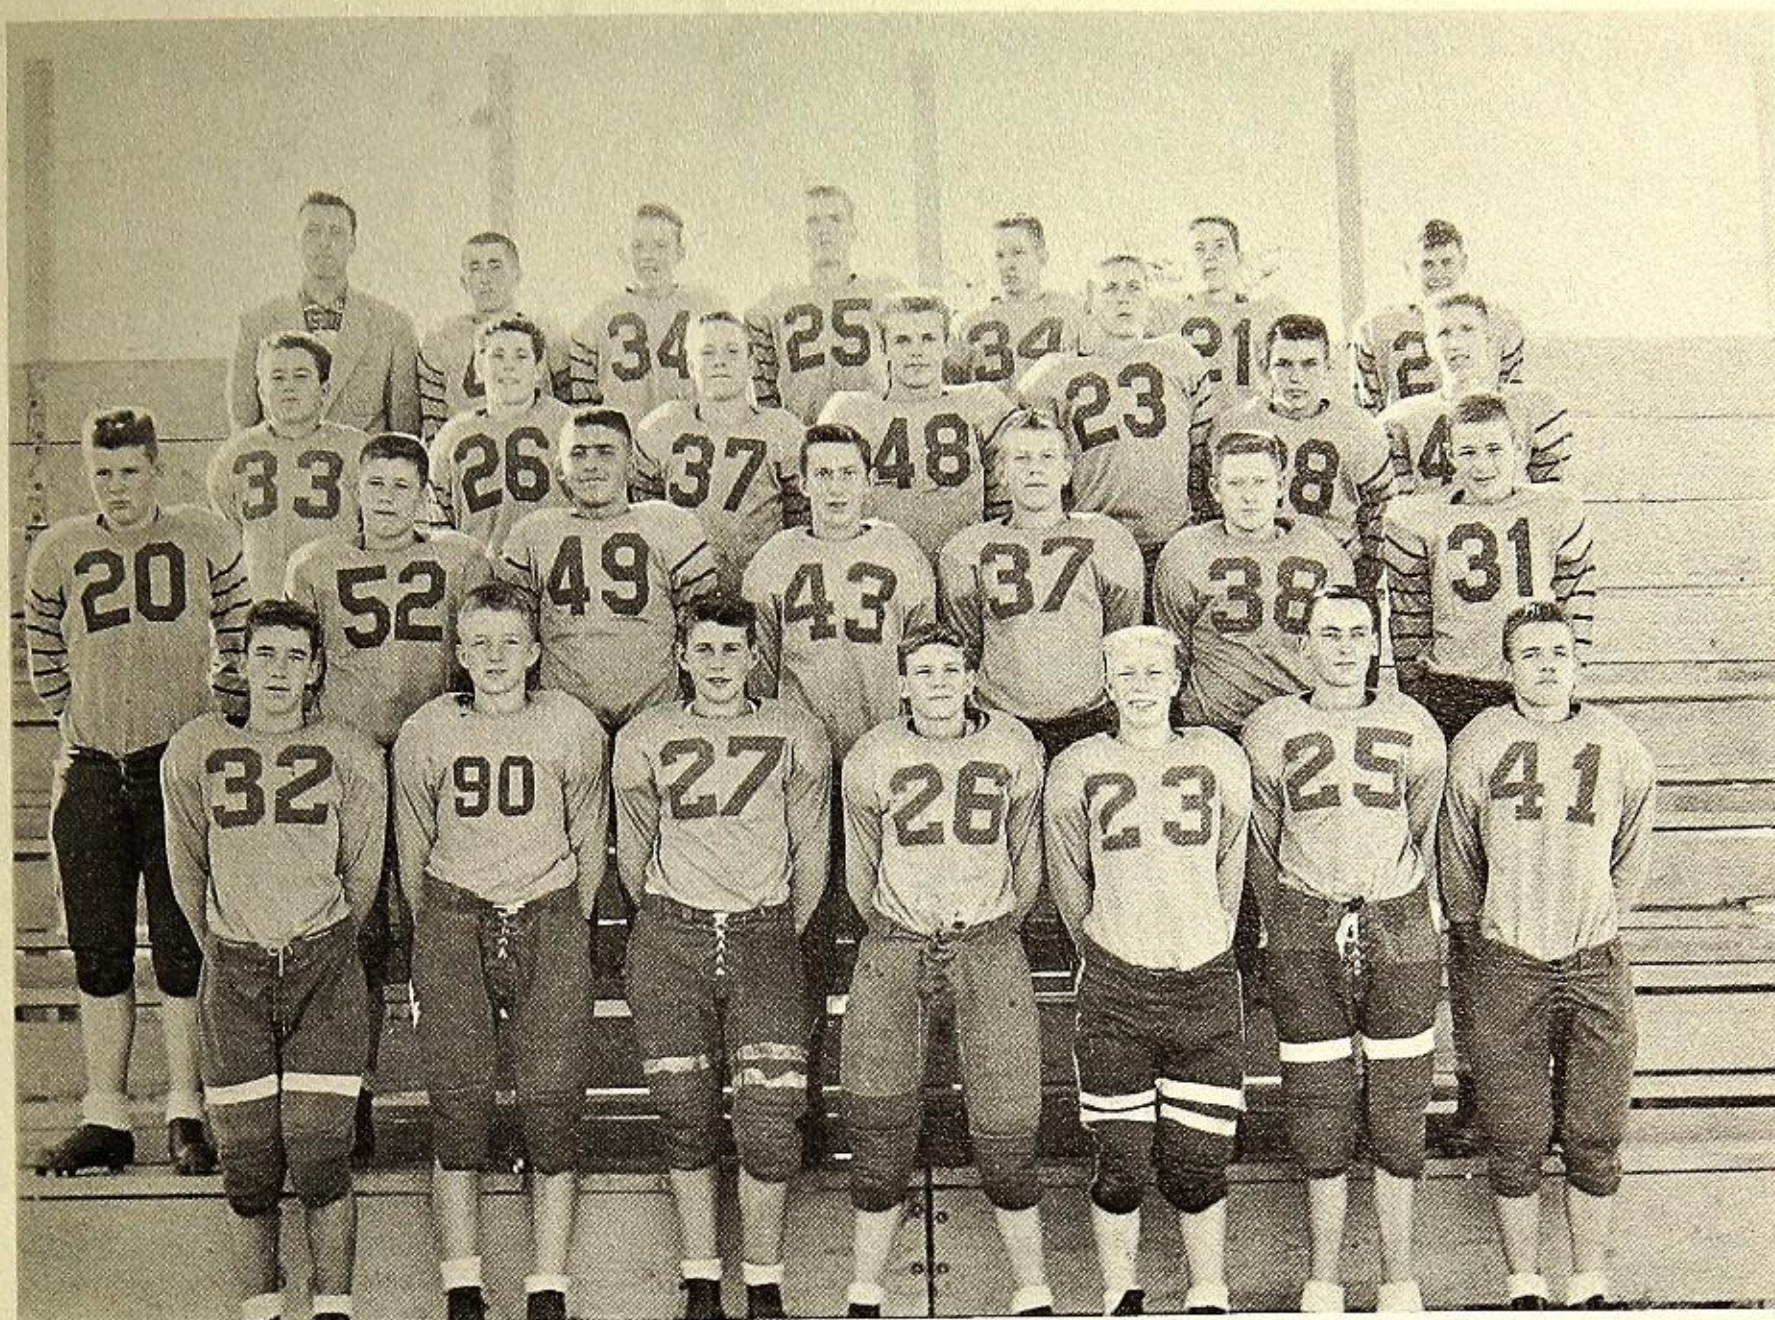

We have reasons for such memories since, with the help of our fine coaching staff, we have again had a very successful year, winning eight of our nine games and losing one by a very close margin.

This is the second year in a row we have won the Siskiyou County Football Championship trophy. Once again our athletes have proved their ability and displayed their fine sportsmanship.

Since almost forty boys went out for football last fall, there were many able reserves who showed their upcoming ability when their chance came.

We are very proud of their accomplishment and hope they continue their good work.

For the first time in three years the Junior Varsity football team, composed largely of new and inexperienced players, lost only two of seven games the entire season.

Though they did not win the championship trophy this year, they did give every opposing team terrific competition. We feel they have taken a big step forward toward future championship. The team has been victorious in every league game in the county.

Jamboree Queens

QUEEN MARTHA

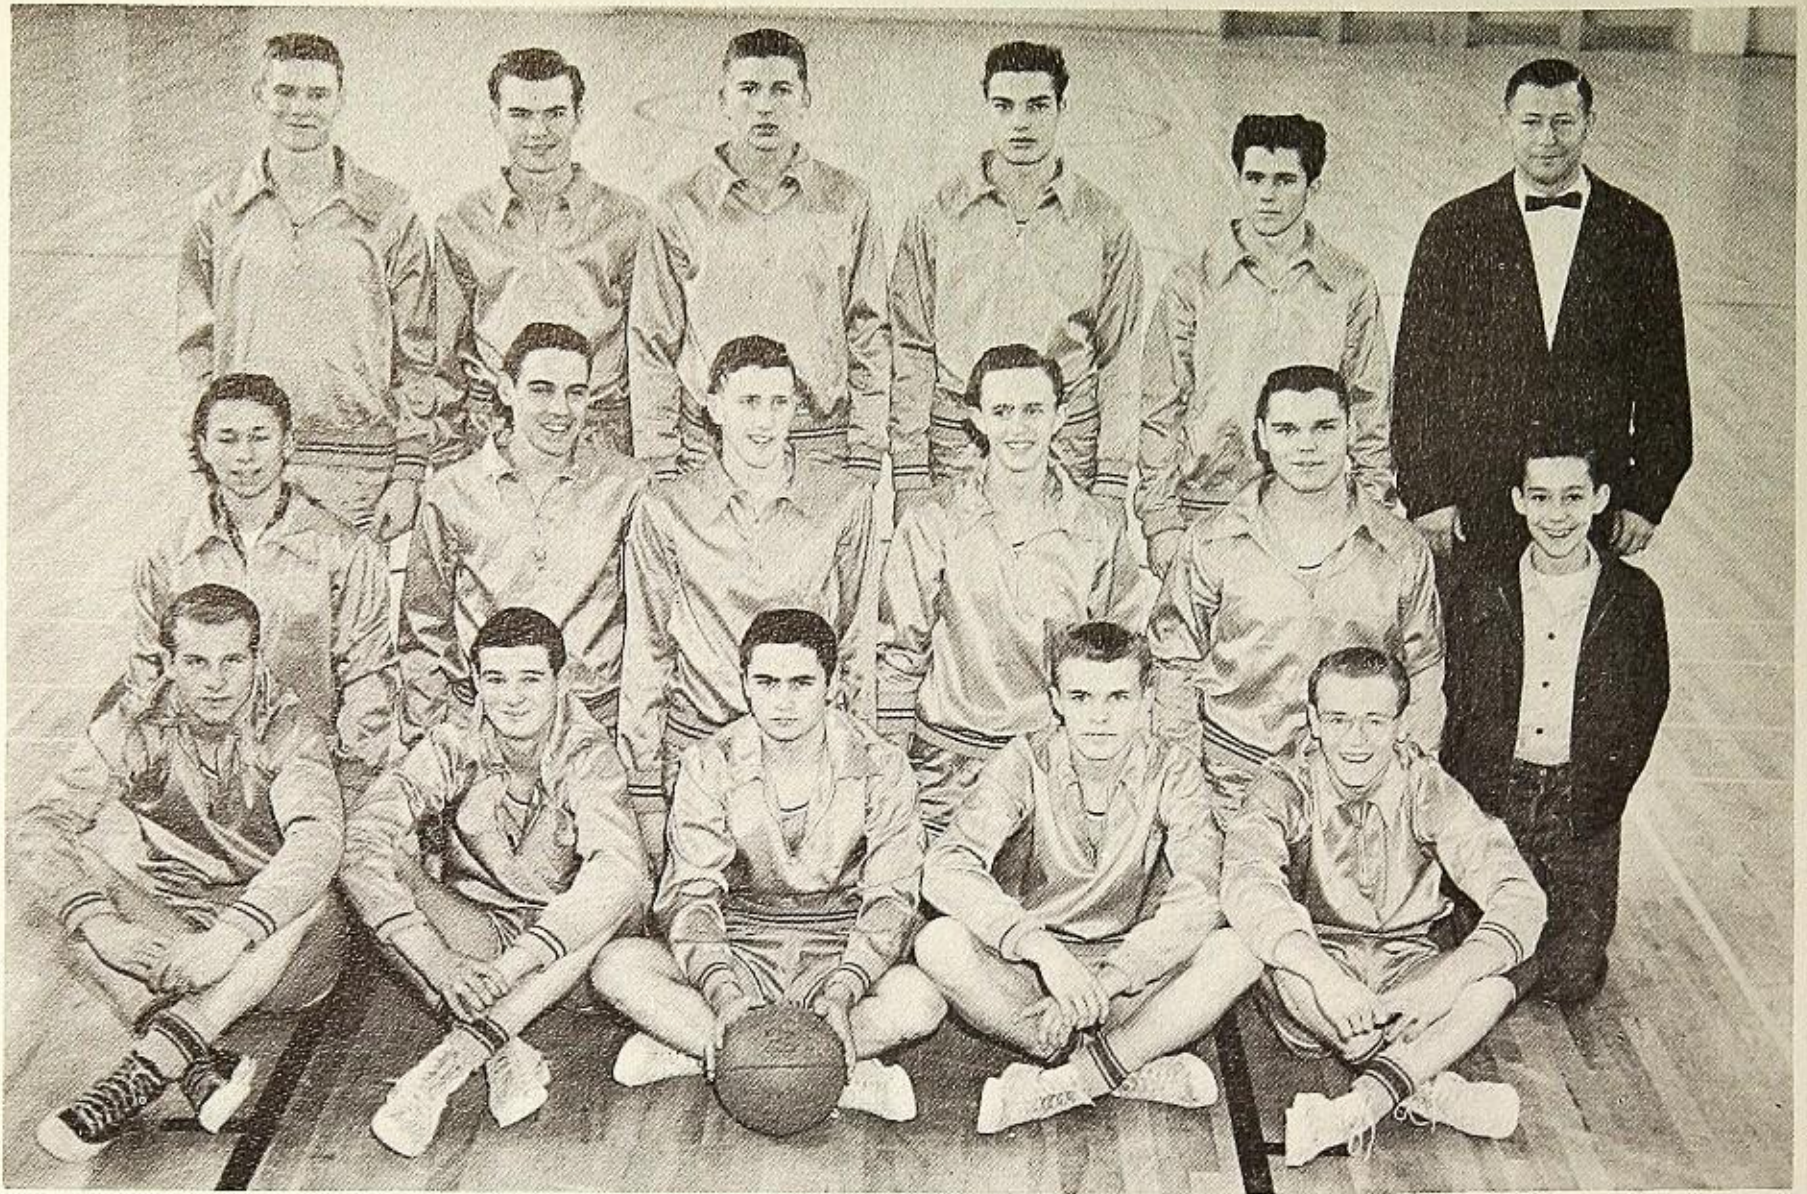

The Basketball Jamboree was held at the beginning of basketball season in December. Other teams in Siskiyou County were invited and it was a very important occasion.

One of the highlights of that weekend was the crowning of the Jamboree Queen. For the second year in a row, the class of 1956 became victorious, when Lovely Marsha Payne, senior candidate, was crowned and awarded the trophy.

As a reward for the cheerleader's hard work to better Yreka's school spirit, we were happy to be awarded the runner-up trophy for our school spirit.

"A" Basketball

The Miners, starting off at a rather slow pace, stepped up to take eight of their twelve games so far this season. They have shown good sportsmanship and good spirit all through the season; they have gotten in and fought good, hard, and fast games. Their capable coach, Mr. Robinson, has given the team valuable instruction and unfailing inspiration. We hope to see many more victories for our Yreka Miners before the season ends.

The "B" team has again made a name for itself. By their spirit, perseverance, and ability, they have already cinched "B" Basketball trophy award. This award did, by no means, come by chance. It was through the fine coaching of Mr. DeRushia and the hard work of the players. They were fortunate to have most of the boys with experience returning to the squad and most of the beginning players showed their up and coming ability.

"C" Basketball

Though the "C" team was a small, inexperienced team consisting of only Freshmen and Sophomores, they fought fast and hard, winning a majority of their games. Every opposing team, whether they won or lost, felt they had had a fight. Under the exacting coaching of Mr. Herfindahl, new in Yreka High this year, they hope to return next year with more experience and the possibility of winning the trophy.

"D" Basketball

This team, mostly inexperienced Freshmen except for one Sophomore, made a great showing for itself by walking off with the honor and trophy of "D" Basketball Championship. Under the guidance of their capable coach, Mr. Herfindahl, they won almost all their games and have shown good sportsmanship in all of them. Next season, with a more experienced team, we hope to see the "D" team take the trophy again.

Track and Field

Last year's track season proved to be very successful. During the season, several records were set. Although the "A" class did not take the All-County Track Meet Championship last year, they did very well. Tillman Crownover represented Yreka at the State Meet in Los Angeles.

The "B" and "C" classes showed their fitness by cinching the All-County Meet on the home field.

Myrle Root broke the 160 yard low hurdles record by running it in :17.5. Richard Keyes set a record for the Class 'C' pole vaulting at 10'8". Besides these, many records were nearly broken. With the efficient coaching of Mr. Robinson, and the high spirit of the entire group, they have hopes of setting even better records next season.

There are twenty-nine returning lettermen who have already displayed their ability.

Baseball

Bob Allen, Bill Holland. THIRD ROW: Howard Manney, Bill Lohman, Mr. Jack Beggs (coach). FIFTH ROW: Duane Culp, Frank La Pena.

Siskiyou County Champs

The Miners took a winning streak, winning eight of the ten season games during last year's baseball season. They lost only one league game, which was to Weed. In spite of this fact, they carried off the Siskiyou County Baseball Championship.

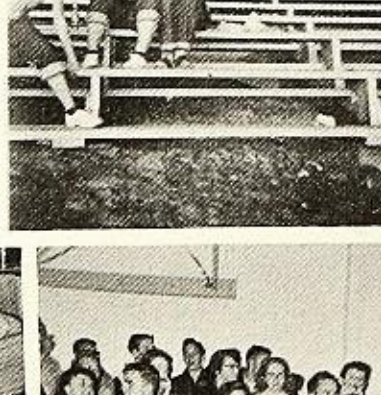

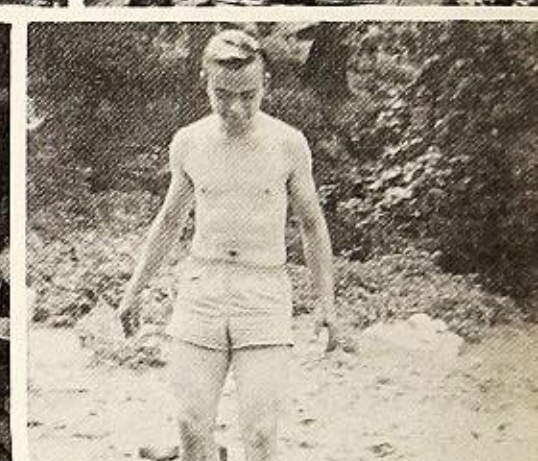

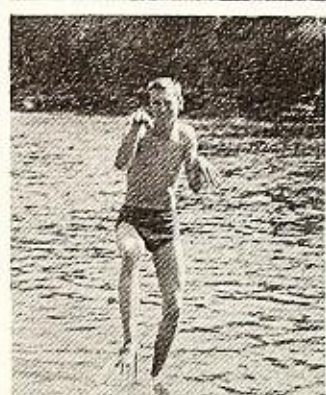

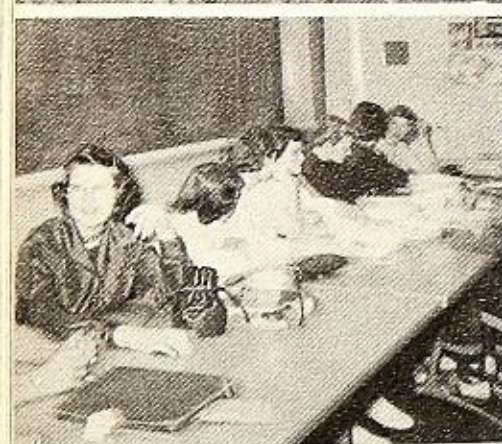

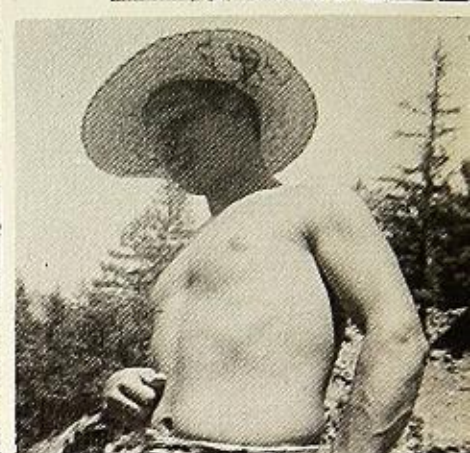

Although the team was not very large last season, most of them had had previous experience and showed their ability on the field.

With the help of hard hitters and good defense, the Miners kept the opposing team's scores low and boosted their own higher and higher with each game.

This year there are sixteen returning lettermen, who give us promise of another successful season.

The team, capably coached by Mr. Beggs and Mr. DeRushia, are planning for the future baseball seasons and hope to again take the league championship.

LITERARY

A LAMENT

Everyday I trampled
By twice five hundred feet,
And marked or sampled
With pencil, liptick, and cleat.

My campus is a clutter
Of papers, dogs and garbage.
All I can do is shudder!
Oh, this day and age!

Trophies and awards I have won,
Including honorable mentions, too,
Conquered in good sportsmanship and fun
For the Championship of Siskiyou.

I am not given credit
Nor is it only fame,
But "tradition," they said it,
That lives up to my name.

At me many fret;
How they wish I were new.
Still, never as of yet
Has this dream come true.

Yes, wrecked and worn
And very old am I,
Each year more forlorn!
I am Yreka High!

A HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR

We tread the halls with solemn face.
Memories that won't erase
Linger there, as if by fate
Into our minds to penetrate.

An air of sadness settles 'round
As we leave the old for the life new-found.
One step higher we ascend
Toward a goal we do extend.

From a hall where knowledge reigns
Comes a life no one disdains.
Reach out and grasp each thread of thought
While time is young, not overwrought.

—by Suzanne Sweeney

THE FALCON'S FATE

The falcon up above was flying,
As swift as an April breeze,
When down below her prey was dying,
As it was wedged between two trees.

Home in the nest, her young were crying
For food; meat was what they wanted.
She tossed them the rabbit
And flew off in search of her mate.
Would he help feed the young?
Or what would be their fate?

And then it happened!
She saw the glint of the gun;
Her wing felt as though it were on fire.
On down and down she spun.

DAYBREAK

Far in the west rides the morning star;
In the east the promise of sun.
The morning, hem of the robe of night,
The sun crowning the day just begun.

Uncrowned is the day with falling of dusk;
The jewels from his crown stud the sky.
The morning star shines through the hours of the night,
But darkness will pass, and her majesty reign by and by.

—by Adrian De Rose

TOUCHDOWN

The ball is approached and all is ready.
Inside you are tight;
If you receive the ball, you must drive,
Drive with all your might.
Lower your head; go in low!
Fight them back, blow for blow!
Your muscles are sore;
You are weary and hurt;
But you catch that pass
And with one final spurt,
You are out in the clear, running hard,
Driving for that goal which you see from afar.
Forty, thirty, twenty more to go.
They are gaining on you.
Are you going too slow?
You try to pick up speed, but this is in vain.
Your muscles are tired and wither with pain.
But wait; something happened.
You are running better; there is no more strain.
Those who were chasing you have given up in vain.
The goal is now near; five more yards to go.
Everyone is yelling; another touchdown we know.
And when you cross that goal line and hear the shouts
of glee,
You know that you have earned them.
You have led your team to victory!

HIGH SCHOOL — THE LABORATORY OF LIFE

If you should walk into a chemistry laboratory, pick out several bottles of different chemicals at random without noticing the labels and proceed to mix them together, what would happen? Probably nothing would happen, or possibly there could be an explosion. This experience would teach you one of the fundamental scientific principles, you must carefully plan an experiment to obtain the proper results.

If we enter high school with the same attitude of mind, we may mix the wrong ingredients of life and accomplish very little, or we may select certain ingredients and end up with a disastrous result. Our high school experiment may be performed under the wrong conditions and make the final product different from what we had expected.

The ingredients that we must combine to make the basis for our future, that basis being our high school life, must be carefully planned, the ingredients carefully selected, and the conditions controlled to produce a successful result. In this way our high school can be truly called the "Laboratory of Life."

WHAT IS A GENTLEMAN

The term "gentleman" brings to my mind an image of a man who possesses many qualities.

In appearance this man is not necessarily handsome, but he is neatly dressed. He carries himself with pride, and his bearing is one of dignity. He doesn't have to be rich or sophisticated; in fact, he may be one of the poorest men in regard to earthly riches.

In my opinion, one of the distinguishing characteristics of a gentleman is his attitude. He is a big man in that he can forget and forgive, take a joke, admit when he is wrong. He is wise enough to overlook petty prejudices and criticisms. He can reply to a mocker and fight for what he believes is right. He is brave but not foolhardy. A true gentleman has pluck and heart and strength of character. He is kind and considerate and truly interested in his fellowman. He can lead or follow, depending on the situation. He is loyal to his country and the ideals it stands for. He is wise enough to leave the past alone, to live in the present, and to have faith in the future.

A true gentleman is recognized by everyone. He is one who automatically commands the respect of all who meet him.

PAROLED

The day was warm and the passengers of the bus had all removed their hats and coats, all except the old man sitting on the back seat next to the window. He had drawn his hat brim down until his eyes were hidden, and his coat up until only the tip of his nose was visible. When he had first boarded the bus, he too had removed his hat, but after getting a glance at his reflection in the opposite window, he had quickly replaced it. A quick tide of color had replaced the pallor of his face. Since then, he had spoken to no one and had kept his face turned toward the window.

He arrived at a small town late in the evening. No one met him, and after hesitating a moment, he made his way to a dingy little hotel on a side street. For hours he sat with his elbows on the window sill, his chin propped in his hand, watching the people come and go on the street below. Finally he lay down, fully dressed, upon the lumpy bed.

As soon as the town began to stir, he hurried out, bought a loaf of bread, a bottle of milk, and a bag of fruit. He was hurrying back to his room, his vision obscured by the drawn-down hat brim, when he collided with another early riser. He had raised his head at the instant of collision, and with both men recognition was instantaneous. The painful color again flooded his face and he half offered his hand, when the other man turned and walked away.

The way back to his room seemed unbearably long. Early shoppers were about and before he made his haven another acquaintance recognized him. The curiosity on the face of this man and the unveiled sympathy were harder to stand than the open distaste of the first. When he finally reached his room, he drew down the blind and sat by the window again, forgetting the food which he had bought.

Late that night a small old man walked up and down the railroad tracks. Freight and passenger trains went by, and he watched them with sick eyes in his white face. In the early morning hours, he turned his hopeless steps back toward his room.

THE ART OF LOSING THINGS

This is a scientific article written by Yancey Abernathy, Ph.D., and published in this magazine in the sincere hope that it will be a great benefit to our readers.

It is written in concise English and if followed carefully results can be guaranteed.

It is not easy to lose things. Losing things is an art, but certainly not a lost one. Whether it may be a pencil, wallet or a bright red fire engine, it takes lots of study, plus mental and physical ability, to lose something. For example, if you want to lose your wallet these are the steps you will have to take: first plan thoroughly in your subconscious mind some clever but completely obvious place to leave it.

Now at this time it is wise to point out that you must be careful not to peek into your subconscious with your alert mind, for this will completely ruin the plan. A good way to discipline your brain so it won't intrude is to relax with a salami-cheese-bacon-turkey sandwich while trying to memorize the 'Gettysburg Address.'

After your plans have been made, you must strain your brain to become completely oblivious of the wallet. Now, take a long hike, and along the way your subconscious will leave your wallet in the prearranged spot.

You have formed a mental block so you won't be able to recall what happened to your wallet. And when your friend comes to ask if you will repay the loan you got from him, you can truthfully tell him that you have lost your wallet.

So you see, developing this art of losing things is well worth the effort. I'm sure that the astute person will find many convenient applications of this art once it is acquired.

High School Experiments

There is no royal road to learning;
no short cut to the acquirement of any valuable art.

—Anthony Trollope

During the course of our high school career, we found that not everything would be handed to us on a silver platter. Many times we may have wished we could lay our books aside for more interesting pursuits, but there were no easy shortcuts through these four years. There were experiments to perform and problems to solve.

When we entered high school as freshmen, we were perhaps more experimented on than had the opportunity to experiment with. We were not sure we would survive the grueling initiation, but we did and later found the sophomores friendly and helpful. Eventually, as we entered into the daily routines of study and activities, we became well aware that we had to work in order to succeed. Our extracurricular activities were limited, but just the fact that we were in high school was enough to make us feel important.

All experiments during our second year were not performed in the biology lab. To live up to the reputation of wise sophomores we set examples for the green freshmen to pattern after, having welcomed them in the usual way. "Every school-boy knows it all" was often applied to us as sophomores. Having moved up a year, didn't we know almost all there was to learn? We were happily unaware of the rude awakening to come in the dawn of our junior year.

It was a red letter day in our lives when we became upperclassmen. We were no longer looked down upon (if noticed at all), but we soon realized our tasks would increase. Our shoulders became broader, and we were now learning to accept responsibilities. Putting on our first play was a new, exciting experience. Also we discovered what cooperation could be when we, as a class, worked together to make our Prom a success. During this year some of our class members helped with the White and Gold and The Log, not to mention serving on the numerous other committees and taking part in sports activities. At the Junior-Senior banquet we said farewell to the class of 1955.

The next fall we slipped into the seats of seniors and planned and carried out interesting and educational activities, such as the mock election project in our civics class. We prepared our section of the White and Gold, teaching the juniors and showing them the way for next year's work. We put on our successful senior play early in the year.

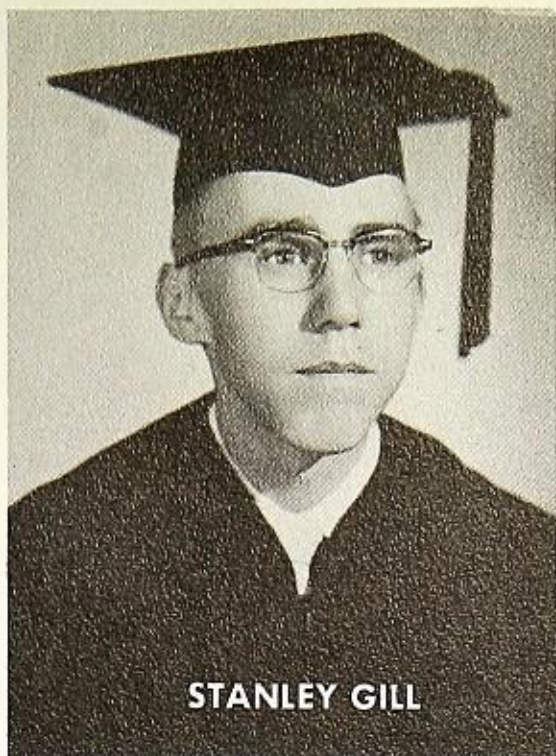

Our Senior Ball and commencement exercises will be the highlights in the last of our high school experiments. In the long run, our many activities have prepared us socially for our future. We have, moreover, we hope, progressed toward our goal—preparation for college or for jobs. We know there is still much learning ahead for us and further experimenting because "All youth is wholly experimental."

It is hard to find a man who has studied for three years without making some progress in virtue. —Confucius

We Juniors have studied for three years and hope we are better individuals. This year we helped the seniors on the White and Gold and The Log; and during the first semester many of us made the honor roll. We enjoyed our Prom, and as we go to press, we are looking forward to our Class Play and the Junior-Senior banquet. We found it great to be upper classmen who really have privileges and added responsibilities.

Sophomore Class

Who learns by finding out has sevenfold
The skill of him who learned by being told.

—Arthur Guiterman

We, the Class of 1958, learned by finding out that the freshmen could be great sports when we greeted them with the traditional initiation program and experimented both with untried mixtures and with some old ones in new combinations.

Then to show the frosh our true friendly feeling we promptly gave them a welcome dance.

Many of our classmates participated in sports, a number of our boys receiving their Block M's. There are eight of our girls on the drill team, and we are represented in the chorus and band.

We learned also from our new subjects, for there are sophomores on the C.S.F. and the honor roll. Now we are looking forward to being upper classmen.

Freshman Class

Whence is thy learning? hath thy toil
O'er books consum'd the midnight oil?

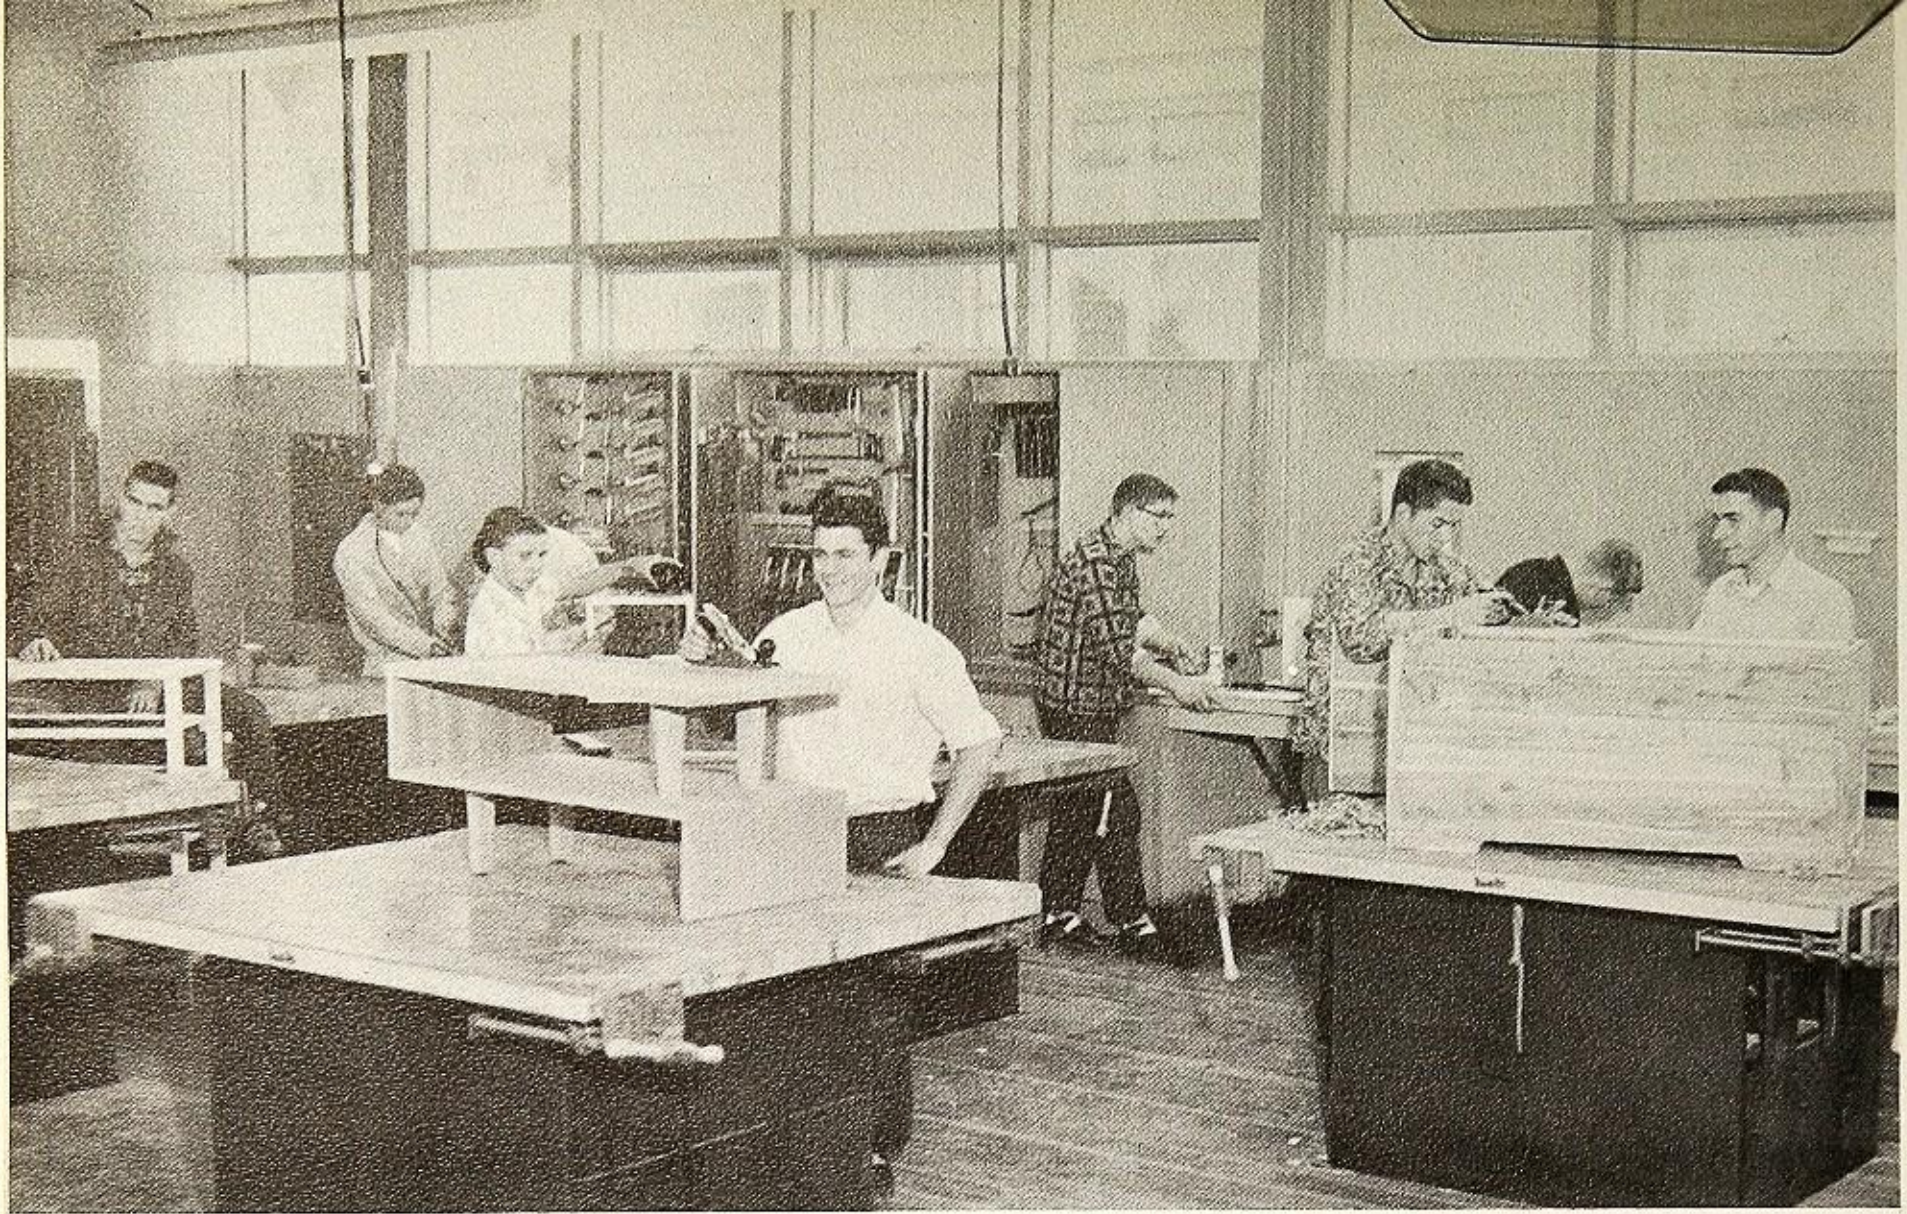

—John Gay

We knew when we entered high school that our lessons would be harder than ever, and maybe we should have burned more midnight oil. We did settle down to study after our initiation worries were over.

Having survived the ordeal by Sophomores, we were welcomed by them to a gay dance and returned the favor by giving our freshmen dance.

We felt important getting our pictures taken for the Annual and soon entered into school activities open to freshmen. Some of us made the C.S.F. and honor roll, showing that we toiled over our books and can now look forward to our sophomore year, which will soon arrive.

Band

After a year's experience our dance band has been working smoothly with Mr. Hicklin, who not only conducted, but sometimes filled in to play the trombone or trumpet. The new music used this year helped a great deal. Besides playing in assemblies, we played at a Service Club meeting and the Junior Women's Club Variety Show.

The chorus is made up of three juniors, eight sophomores, and five freshmen. Along with the concert band and dance band, the girls took part in the fall concert and the spring festival. The officers are Joan Murphy, president; Celia Van Keuren, vice-president; Jean Edwards, secretary.

The concert band members in their new gold-trimmed blue uniforms really make an impressive, smart appearance. The band again this year gave its fall and spring concerts and participated in the Music Festivals at Dunsmuir and at Redding. Some more uniforms are to be ordered. Also the band is getting a BB♭ Souzaphone and a pair of cymbals. Officers are Dicke Kite, president; Stan Gill, vice-president; and Virginia Weis, secretary.

A Day's Work

It is June 6, 1976, ten-thirty A.M. The place is Los Angeles, California. My name is Bud Nobili; I'm a cop.

My partner, Joe Tallerico, and I are working the day shift. Our beat is Second Street, Plush Avenue and Highland Scrum. As I nose our prowler car out into the cool, clean air, I think of Angie Rossi, who got rid of the smog.

Turning down Second Street, it's all I can do to keep my eyes off the sign above Jack Raco's Hash House. Suddenly, I am blinded by two blazing white headlights that are behind me, beside me, and then past me. The blaring pipes tell me it is Bill Regnani, the nation's greatest hot rod driver. As I approach one of the street's two lamp posts, I see the familiar figures of Dick Shearer, Julian Bortolin, and Richard Everett, serenading their sweethearts in the balcony above. Shouting a few words of encouragement, I proceeded to the better part of town.

Speeding over the Tin Gate Bridge, my mind wanders back to the days when its designer, Jim Herbert, and I were together in the Mechanical Drawing Class. Just on the other side of the bridge, we pass Ernest Hollenbeck's movie studio where Helen Wright is the chief makeup artist for Kay Davis, the leading star.

Then I gently turn down the well-paved street, lined on both sides by well kept summer homes. The house with the football-shaped swimming pool belongs to none other than Agatha Johnson, the successful novelist. The smaller home, strategically placed by the larger house, belongs to Beverly Mosher, who is secretary for the famous novelist. Her under secretaries are Loyce Lowry and Kay Ann Sanders, who are in charge of the fan mail. Near the end of the first block my partner spots a white-coated man, gaily sweeping the street. Eddie laconis always was handy with a broom. On the corner lot in his garden working happily is Bozo Munsell, assisted by his attractive wife, Charlene Brinser. We wave a hearty hello and proceed down the palm-lined lane. In one of the palms was Tom Chamberlain, cutting the branches. Tom always said that he was going on to higher things.

As we continue our beat we are hailed to a stop by Jody Hegre, the town's only police woman. After a report on the neighborhood, we attempt to finish our run. Just as things begin to get quiet there is a loud thunderous blast. We don't stop because we know it is Karen Ricci and Rose Galli, the two scientists that live on this street. Ever since those two moved to this street, the mayor, Gerald Wion, stationed one of the ambulances and its driver, Richard Cabitto, to this part of town.

Rolling down the last block of Plush Avenue, I notice a car coming up the street toward us. Slowly and casually we flag the car down. I find that the driver is Jerry Caswell, an old friend of mine. I hate telling my friends that they are going the wrong way on a one way street, but that's my job. Talking wildly in the back seat of this car is Jon Bode, the radio announcer for Station XYZ. After clearing up the traffic jam, we're on our way again.

As we enter Highland Scrum, we are stopped by the debris on the road. We call in and wait for Bill Cunningham and Frances Scalise, the bosses of the sanitation department. A cup of java and ten minutes later they arrive, along with Jack Thompson, chief driver for the department. While the mess is being cleaned, we chase the curious crowd away. As always, some of the people are hard to get rid of. In this case it is Dan Keegan and Rudy Baiza, who love excitement and always manage to find some or create some. A most unusual sight is the landing of a helicopter on a house, but I see it quite often now because Eugene Mason owns one and lands it on his flat-roofed house every night. One of the neighbors, Rosa Sackett, has been trying to get a law passed to stop this kind of thing for the past two years. Sue Abell, another person that lives close by and is a reporter for the town newspaper, has been opposing her for some time. Neither has made much progress.

Now we come to the last mile of our round; ten more minutes and we will be going back to the police station. Passing the only building on this street, we slow down to see if the light is on in Stan Gill's Girdle and Corset Factory. Since it is on, we rush back to the station.

Upon entering, I am surprised to see Dicke Kite pleading with Judge Fran Toole to reduce his speeding fine. Feeling sorry for some people and happy for others, I fill out a report and wearily trudge home to some peace and quiet, with my wife and ten kids.

Class Prophecy

It was the year 1966 when a letter arrived from an old friend and classmate with an invitation to visit him. It was signed Colonel L. Chambers, Mt. Shasta, California. That's why I was driving down the unfamiliar streets of my old hometown trying to find Lyle by his ranch address. After many false turns I finally arrived and immediately spotted the Colonel on the front porch. After talking for a while I found out that he had bought the Brown Shasta Ranch just so he could fish in the lake without being afraid of being run out. But he said that not having to worry about getting caught took all the fun out of fishing so he was going to sell it.

After dinner I decided to go "up town," now a modern replica of Sacramento. About halfway into town I noticed I was almost out of gas. The first station I pulled into looked familiar, so I asked if it still belonged to Phil. I was immediately informed that Cliff Kerr was the new owner. When I asked about the new hotel across the street, he told me that Larry Stilley had bought the old hotel, torn it down and build a brand new hundred thousand dollar drive-in hotel. After I left the station I went down the street to a place I knew would never change, Slicks. As I pulled up I spotted Joe Anderson and Kenny Tannehill sitting by the window. I walked in and the fun began. I found out Joe was working in the woods with his dad and Kenny was working for the City—as Mayor! Joe told me that there was a dance at the Armory (now the Palladium) and that if I waited until he took his cork boots off he would accompany me. Upon arriving I immediately recognized Frankie Miles at the microphone crooning soft words to low music. On joining her later I discovered her name wasn't Miles anymore but Thompson! Soon Warren came up and he mentioned the fact that he was running the ski lift on Mt. Shasta and would I care to join the crowd the following day. That is how the next morning I found myself with Warren and Chuck Chitwood, who had just returned from the Olympics where he had won top honors for the United States. After donning my skis I tried to follow Chuck's majestic figure and succeeded only in ending up in the Mt. Shasta Hospital with a broken leg. However, by the end of four days I was able to leave, thanks to the wonderful care provided by Nan Howarth, an attractive and dependable nurse. As I was leaving she mentioned a premiere in town showing at one of the Astmann Chain Theatres—Irving A., President, of course! The picture was a mystery, The Long Hour, starring Tab Hunter—better remembered as Bill Butler; the new teenage idol!

Well, true to habit after taking in this show, I went to Spini's and much to my surprise found Rosie Manley behind the counter and sitting by the fire, John Howarth. They had gotten married and bought the place when the Spini's retired. Jere Ball came in after a while and I was pleased to discover he was running for senator. Soon afterwards Judy Hines strolled in and everyone immediately rushed around her excitedly asking about her experiences. It seems she was the first woman jet pilot to fly into the third dimension. Anita Cecato walked in with her boy and I discovered she was one of the state's leading beauty consultants. After reminiscing with her awhile, I wandered over to a booth where I thought I recognized Marlene Vanni. She was wearing dark glasses and after a quickly whispered conference I found out she was married to Prince Aga Aga Magum and was traveling incognito. I left Spini's and strolled towards Ed's. Suddenly a little black bomb came screaming past and I barely recognized Jay Haines in his screaming Gimie doing a couple of fishtails as he drove past. Jay, I understand, is now a professional race driver and is going to Indianapolis this year. Not far behind him was a little roadster and I apprehensively watched as Jim Neptune lay a fifty foot strip as he cut on out for town. Jim, I found out, is working for the County Road Department and spends his spare time tearing up what he fixes during the day. I walked into Ed's and saw Sally Caldwell's friendly face at one of the tables. She informed me she had been appointed Postmistress General due to her excessive use of the postal system while her husband was in the service. Ed's seemed to fill up with old friends as in our school days. Bob Eichorn, now Chief Architect for the California State Dept. of Highways, came driving up in his Cadillac. Ed Baker came in and Bob mentioned that he was president of the Copco Power Co.! As we all got together and made plans for a reunion at Shasta Lake, someone said not to forget an invitation to Loraine Murphy who was in Washington, D.C. as the president's private secretary. Also one must be sent to Pat Kirkpatrick who was in South America studying methods of raising coffee to take back to England where there was a tea shortage. After the necessary plans were made for a reunion, I left Ed's and was heading home, when I glanced in my rear-view mirror and saw a red light behind me. Never having lost my respect for the law I pulled over to the curb and was shocked to see Officer Gerald Spini looking down. He'd stopped me just to say hello! After recuperating from seeing and talking to Gerald, I went down by the Toreson Mansion I had heard so much about, and was just in time to see Richard getting out of his sports car. I walked over and without appearing too nosey I found out he was a stock broker—with considerable luck I guessed! I finally made it to my bed and was up in time to go to church. Much to my surprise I found that Ed Niemi was the minister! After a swell sermon Ed came over and we talked for a while. I excused myself abruptly for I had gotten a glimpse of Sharron Colombero coming out of the church across the street. I intercepted her and on getting her recent history found out she was driving instructor for all the high schools in California. This was no little surprise for I recalled the long trail of dented fenders she'd left behind in her juvenile days.

Not a day passed that I didn't see an old friend driving through or like myself coming back to reminisce. I discovered Ardell Bolden was a stewardess for a large Airline Company that flies from Mexico to Canada. I saw Yvonne Brown, who works for the Atomic Energy Commission and was here checking the Panther Meadows area for work on a secret project! Arloween Elliott's name made the headlines—she had just been appointed ambassador to the Philippine Islands. I was glad to see Eugene Hines who is a wealthy cattleman in Texas and who was up here to check on some stock. Marilyn Lanthier and Ardith Stansbury as star actresses were receiving world wide acclaim in their latest stage hit. I bumped into John Wheeler at a flower show and discovered he was Superintendent of the Dept. of Education. He mentioned an auto show the following day which I decided to take in. As soon as I came in I recognized Geraldine Spini as the gracious hostess and not far off were Linda Freer and Carole Riccomini. Of course we started talking and soon I gathered that Carole had taken over her dad's business and was a millionaire. Linda worked for Carole and was in charge of the interior decorations of all the new cars. Geraldine was a famous TV star helping publicize the show for old times sake. There was a commotion as reporters crowded the doorway to get to one of the guests coming in. I heard a soft southern voice and I got a glimpse of the great leader of social circles in Atlanta, Georgia, Mrs. Flora Pearson. With her was her friend, Lynn Hartley, who was now president of the TV telephone company and was investigating the possibility of doing business in Mt. Shasta. Lynn informed me she'd seen Bertha Williams at a fashion show in New York as top model for Dior's creations!

Well, I'd seen almost all of my old friends. On my way back I planned to stop by and see Jim Dillard who was head coach at U.C.L.A. I spent my last evening watching television with the Colonel. I had read about John Rizzardo being the world's heavy-weight wrestler, and now I saw him for the first time.

I left Mt. Shasta glad to have seen or heard from everyone in my graduation class, and especially happy to know they had all found their place in this fast moving world.—by Dick Harde.

CADETS

CAPTAIN GUTMANN

The Cadets have won all the rifle matches they have participated in this year. They outshot both Fall River and Central Valley. They have yet to shoot against Shasta. Three boys have a good chance for the State finals.

Aside from their regular cadet activities the boys also learn leadership, citizenship, and military tactics.

The cadet officers are Jim Williams and Lyle Chambers, both lieutenants.

These boys are proud to belong to this organization which dates back to 1911 in California history.

Review of Year's Sports

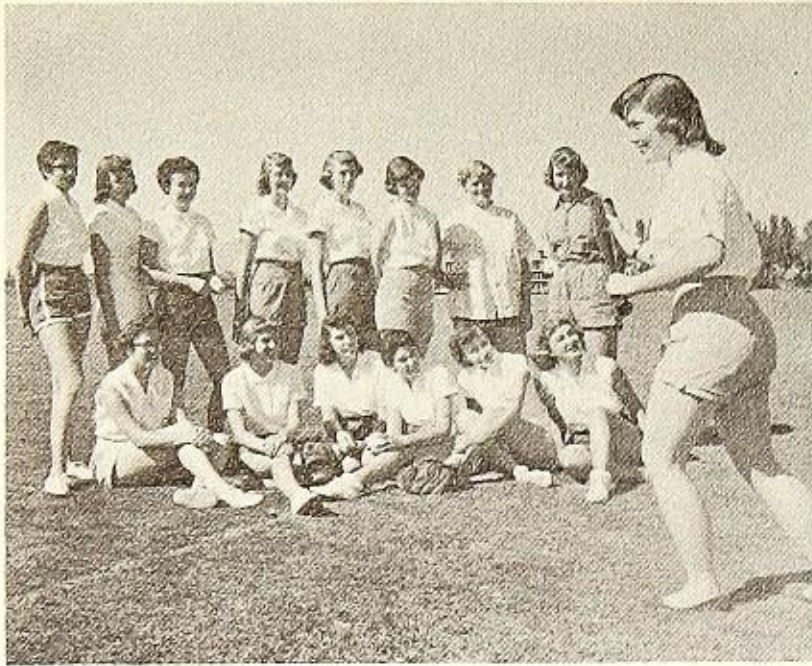

The Honker football squad had an average year, winning about half of their games. However, the victory that did the Tullake squad and their supporters the most good was the trouncing they handed Alturas, the first in many years.

Last year the varsity basketball team traveled to two tournaments, winning one, and copping first in their division in the other. They were also small schools county champions. This year's varsity is having one of its most successful seasons in many years, winning twenty and losing two. They have been invited to two tournaments, and are small school champions in this county. The "B" and "C" teams have not been particularly outstanding, but have several promising players.

Last year two Tulelakers went to Chico and returned with two first place track medals, namely Tom Procter in the 100 yard dash and Carl Creswell in the 440. In "C" track Steve Rudesille set some new records for the county.

The Senior Class of 1956

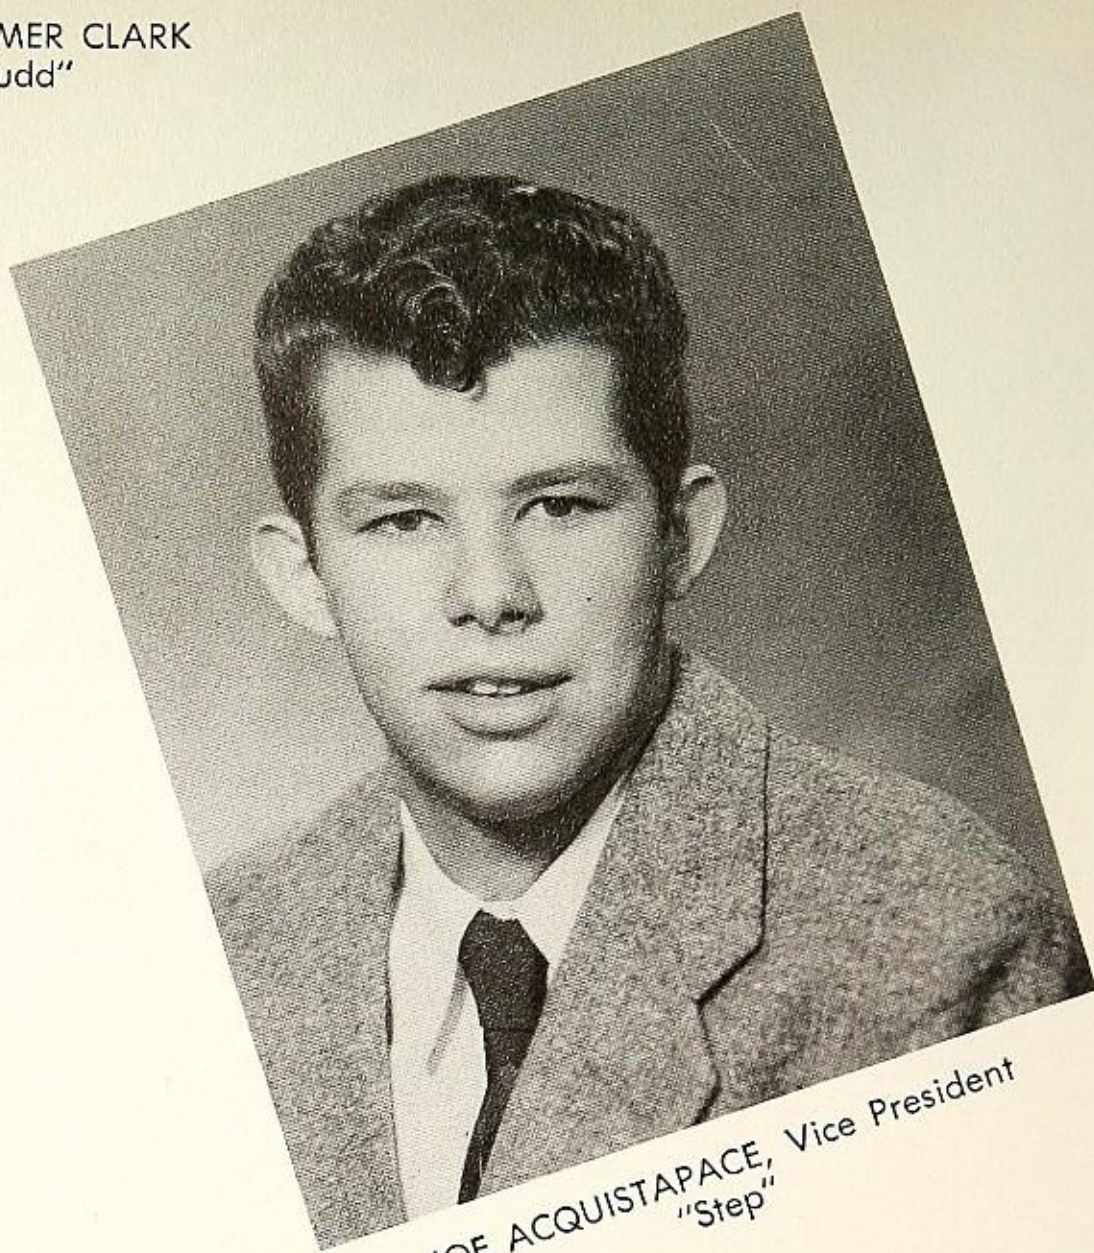

It's difficult to believe that we're nearing the end of the high school road. When we entered grammar school, we were awed by the "big" eighth graders. At last we reached those dizzying heights—only to find ourselves at the bottom of a ladder to a new and higher level—we were freshmen. In four all-too-short years we're at the top again—now we must realize we have another climb. This time we might not reach the top—but at least we'll have the satisfaction of knowing we've done our best.

Through the past year we were led by Mr. Shipman—an outstanding member of the faculty—and Joe "Dog" Tallerico—an outstanding member of the class. To these two—and to all our friends and teachers who have in any way helped or encouraged us—we'd like to say from our hearts—a great big "THANKS!"

Boys' and Girls' State

Each year outstanding members of the Junior class are selected to attend Girls' and Boys' State. Their selection is based primarily on citizenship and secondly on grades.

Girls' and Boys' State was created by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary to teach young people about their State governments. They have mock towns and counties and elect their governing bodies in the same manner as the regular voters.

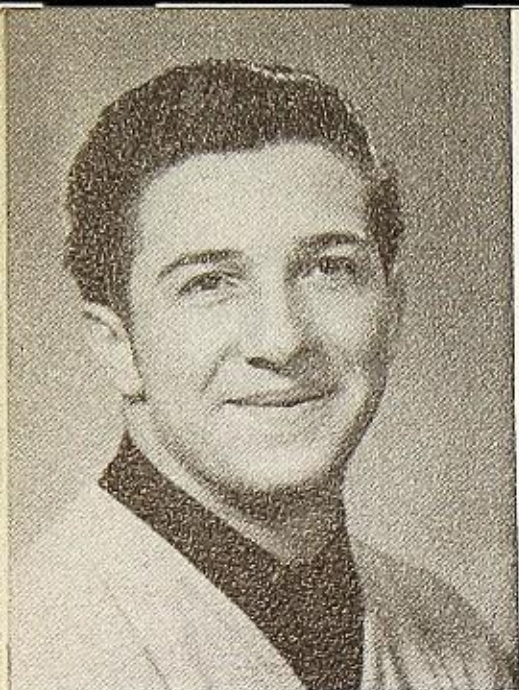

Girls' and Boys' State turns out leaders—evidence of this is the fact that all those who attended have some office in the school government. Three of them are members of the Student Council. Wade is the Student Body President, Pat is the White and Gold Editor, Nathan is the treasurer of the Block "W", and Joe has done an extraordinarily good job as prexy of the Senior class.

Activities

Y. M. C. A.

On October 22, 1955, members of the Y.M.C.A. attended the Northern California Y.M.C.A. Conference at Dunsmuir. The theme this year was "Let's All Pull Together".

The girls are looking forward to the Older Girls' Conference to be held at Richardson Springs.

In order to earn money, the Y.M.C.A. members have candy, cupcake, and food sales.

One of the biggest non-profit world service activities performed by this organization is the selling of dish rags, with the proceeds going to Boys Town in Korea.
